Cookies are small strings of text – which may include personal data (e.g. IP address, Username, e-mail address) and technical information (e.g. language settings, device type) – that websites which are visited send to the User's terminal device (personal computer or mobile device such as a tablet or smartphone), where they are stored (e.g. in the browser's memory), and then transmitted back to the same websites on the next visit. Cookies are used to perform functions such as computer authentication, session monitoring and storing information on websites (without the use of Cookies some operations would be very complex or impossible to perform), also with regard to identifying preferences based on browsing experience. When browsing a Website, the User may also receive on his/her terminal device Cookies that are managed and sent by different websites or web servers (so-called 'third parties'), on which certain elements (such as, for example, images, maps, sounds, specific links to web pages of other domains) present on the Website which the User is visiting.

There are also other tracking tools (e.g. the so-called 'Fingerprinting', 'Pixel Tag', 'Plugin') which, although they use a different technology, enable similar processing to that carried out by means of Cookies and achieve the same results. These tools, unlike Cookies, do not store information inside the User's device and cannot be removed directly by the User himself/herself via the browser settings; it is therefore necessary for the User to avail himself/herself of the option to revoke the authorisation to use them via the functions made available on the Website by the Data Controller in order to review his/her choices.

It is possible to classify these tools by:

- Type of tool
  - Cookies (active identifiers)
  - Other tracking tools (passive identifiers)

- Duration
  - Session (temporary, they are deleted when the browser is closed or, in the cases provided, when the logout command is performed)
  - Permanent (they remain active until their expiry date or deletion by the User)
- Purposes pursued
  - Technical purposes (relating to the functioning of the Website)
  - Non-technical purposes (such as User browser profile)

The Website of Nas-cëtta del Comune di Novello uses the following cookies:

TECHNICAL COOKIES

Technical cookies are necessary for the functioning of the website because they enable functions to facilitate the user's browsing. For example, thanks to said cookies the user will be able to access his/her profile without having to log in each time or will be able to select the language with which he/she wishes to browse the website without having to set it each time.

Technical cookies are considered strictly necessary, because it is essential to save information in order to provide a service requested by the user. Therefore, technical cookies cannot be disabled and users' prior consent is not required for their installation.

Session and persistent cookies are included in the Technical Cookies category.

The User's prior consent is not required for the installation of Technical Cookies.

Please be aware that you can block Cookies at any time through your browser settings; however, if you set your device to refuse these Cookies, some services of the Website may not be displayed correctly or function properly, particularly, without Technical Cookies, processes that allow the User to be identified and remain identified during the session may be more complex to perform and less secure.

NON-TECHNICAL COOKIES

These are tools used to trace specific, recurring behaviour or activities in the use of the Website's functions back to specific individuals, so as to associate the different profiles to uniform groupings, in order to optimise and customise the services offered and/or send advertising messages in line with the preferences expressed by the User when browsing online. This also includes all further Cookies and other tracking identifiers that do not fall within the scope of the technical function.

These are persistent Cookies, as they stay active until their expiry date or deletion by the User.

We also inform you that these Cookies are owned and also operated by Third Parties: they can only be used with your prior consent; your preference is tracked by a specific Technical Cookie.

In this grouping we mainly use on our Website:

PROFILING AND MARKETING COOKIES

Profiling cookies, which may be either first-party or third-party, are used to track the user's browsing, analyse his/her behaviour for marketing purposes and create profiles based on his/her tastes, habits, choices, etc. In this way it is possible, for example, to transmit targeted advertising messages in relation to the user's interests and in line with the preferences expressed by the user when browsing online. These cookies also include social media cookies.

Such cookies can only be installed on the user's terminal device if the user has given his/her consent.

SOCIAL MEDIA COOKIES

These are Cookies managed by Social Media Networks, such as Third Parties, as a result of the use by our Website of the so-called 'Social Media Plugins', integrated into the Website itself. These tools allow for the sharing of the content of the Website visited with other users; they are Cookies which are characteristically used to enable functions such as 'Like' buttons that are typical of Social Media Networks.

These Cookies also allow Social Media Networks to identify Users and collect information from them even while they are browsing other Websites; they may also be used by Social Media Networks for additional purposes such as targeted advertising, analytics or market research. The privacy policies of the respective Social Media Networks apply solely to such processing. You should therefore consider the above before giving your consent for the use of Third-Party Cookies in order not to allow your personal data to be transmitted to Social Media Networks.

ANALYTICS COOKIES

Analytics Cookies, which may be first-party or third party, are installed for the purposes of collecting information on the use of the website. In particular, they are useful to statistically analyse accesses or visits to such website and to enable the website owner to improve its structure, browsing logic and content. The information collected (including the IP address, which is masked) is used for statistical analysis in order to improve the use of the website and possibly to make the content more interesting and relevant to the user's requirements by adopting technical security measures that comply with the guarantee requirements for the transfer of data to the United States.

Analytics Cookies are not necessary for the functioning of the website, however, since the IP address is not in plain text, the installation of such cookies does not require the user's consent.

Analytics Cookies can be assimilated to technical cookies if they are used for the purpose of optimising the website directly by the website owner, which may collect statistical information in aggregate form on the number of users and how they visit the website.

If, on the other hand, the processing of such statistical analyses is entrusted to third parties, the users' data must be minimised in advance and may not be combined with other processing or transmitted to other third parties. Under these conditions, the same rules on disclosure and consent apply to analytics Cookies as to technical Cookies.

MANAGING PREFERENCES

When first accessing any page of the Website, a banner is displayed containing:

- brief information,
- a button through which the user can accept all Cookies,
- a button by means of which it is possible to refuse the installation of Cookies, with the exception of technical cookies;
- a button ('more options') allowing access to a dashboard through which you can select the individual types of Cookies to be installed.

Consent to the use of Cookies is recorded with a special 'Technical Cookie'.

You will be able at any time to amend or revoke any consent provided by pressing the round button "Cookie Settings" at the bottom of every page of the aforesaid website and expressing your updated preferences.

In any event, you can also express your Cookies preferences through the settings of the browser used.

Disabling or blocking Cookies or deleting them may affect the optimal use of certain areas of the website or prevent certain functions from working, as well as affect the operation of third-party services.

The configuration of Cookie management depends on the browser used.
